Man on the Street: Woman and Two Children at Zoo

Larry: Man on the Street

Kent is at the Washington Zoo. He is talking to a woman with two daughters.

Kent: This is the New Dynamic English Man on the Street, Kent Moss. Today I'm at the Washington Zoo. Excuse me?

Linda: Oh, hello.

Kent: Would you like to be on our radio show?

Linda: Sure. That sounds like fun.

Kent: Are these your children?

Linda: Yes. This is Dana. She's three years old. And this is her sister Karen. Karen is six. And my name is Linda.

Kent: Nice to meet you, Linda. I'm Kent. Are you having a good time today?

Linda: Oh, yes. Dana and Karen love the zoo!

Kent: What are their favorite animals?

Linda: Well, Dana likes the smaller animals. She likes the rabbits best.

Kent: What about Karen?

Linda: Karen prefers the larger animals. For example, the lions and the tigers.

But she likes the bears best, especially the polar bears.

Kent: What about the monkeys? Do they like the monkeys?

Linda: Oh, they both love the monkeys. Karen wants to have a pet monkey. And Dana wants to be a monkey!

Kent: Well, I hope you all have a good time today! Where are you going now?

Linda: We're going to the Monkey House.

Kent: Well, have fun. And thanks!

Story Interlude

Larry is going to a fundraising dinner. The dinner is raising money for Washington Children's Hospital.

Larry: Okay, folks, that's it.

Max: Thanks, Larry.

Kathy: Say, Larry, you're dressed up today. You're wearing a suit and a tie. Is there a special reason?

Larry: Well, I'm going to a special dinner with my wife. Everyone at the dinner will give some money to Children's Hospital.

Kathy: Oh, I've heard about that hospital.

Larry: Yes, it's the oldest hospital for children in Washington.

They take care of many kinds of sick children.

Max: Has the Children's Hospital been open for a long time?

Larry: Yes, it's been open for a hundred years!

This year is the hospital's hundredth anniversary.

Kathy: One hundred years!

That's a long time.

Larry: Yes. That's why we want to help them.

Kathy: Oh, hi Elizabeth. Larry's going to a big dinner tonight!

Eliz: Have a great time, Larry.

Larry: Thanks, I will. Oh, it's time for our show.
